

Doris Duke Conservation Scholars Program - Summer 2017

Position Information

Employer:

Doris Duke Conservation Scholars Program at University of Michigan

Division:

N/A

Title:

Doris Duke Conservation Scholars Program - Summer 2017

Description:

An exciting new program here at the University of Michigan--the Doris Duke Conservation Scholars Program (DDCSP UM). DDCSP UM is an exciting two-year research and internship opportunity for bright, curious undergraduate students interested in conservation, nature, and the environment. The program is aimed at bringing more undergraduates currently underrepresented in the environmental field into the conservation arena.

WHY DDCSP AT UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN?

- Create mentor relationships with UM SNRE faculty and researchers.
- Network in Ann Arbor with an active local conservation community.
- Connect with other passionate undergraduate students.
- $4,250 stipend, room and board, round-trip travel to and from Ann Arbor.
- 8 week conservation-focused fellowship opportunity (for two consecutive years).

Program Dates: June 4th - July 29th 2017

Location:

Location #1

Nationwide
no
City
Ann Arbor
State/Province
Michigan
Country
United States

Position Type:

Paid, Internship

Salary Level:

$4,250 stipend, room and board

Job Function:

Environmental, Sustainability, Earth Science, Healthcare, Science, Research

Desired Start Date:

June 4, 2017

Duration:

How To Apply

The application opens November 15, 2016 and the deadline is February 8, 2017. The program dates are June 4-July 29, 2017. Detailed program information and application are available on our website at <http://ddcsp-umich.com>.

Applications accepted via:

- Other

Important Dates

Posted On:

Nov 11, 2016

Applications Accepted Until:

Feb 08, 2017

Contact Information

Employer: Doris Duke Conservation Scholars Program at University of Michigan

Name: Dr. Dorceta E. Taylor

Title: Director

E-mail: ddcsp-snre@umich.edu

June 4 - July 29, 2017