

The US government requires that colleges and universities determine that a student has assured financial support before issuing the student the Form I-20 (Certificate of Eligibility). F-1 student visa applicants need the I-20 to make the visa appointment at US consulates. Additionally, applicants will bring the I-20 accompanied by financial resource documents to the visa appointment, which will be scrutinized by the consular visa officers. If you already have a valid F-1 visa from studying in the US, Macalester is still required to see the financial support.

- Upload your completed form and supporting bank statements through your Macalester Applicant Portal. Information about acceptable financial documentation is listed on page 2.
- International Student Programs (ISP) will begin reviewing and issuing initial I-20s in May.

To help organize the supporting financial documentation required to submit with this form, please complete the following sections to indicate the sources of funding, and how much funding from each source, that are contributing to the total amounts listed in section 10. Required Documentation: The total amount of funding listed for year one in section 10a. must be supported with bank statements, a bank certificate of deposit, or official bank letter proving that the money is available and liquid (ready to use) before an I-20 will be issued. - Any financial statements or documents should be listed in U.S. dollar equivalents if local currency is shown (e.g., convert 10,000 Euros to US $11,997, or 100,000 Chinese Yuan to $15,335, on date of submission).
