NEW SPRING 2019 COURSE OFFERINGS

Public Health in Latin America (GEOG 394) focuses on current and historical public health issues. This course is cross-listed with Latin American Studies and will be taught by Prof. Eric Carter.

Jay Bowman will offer two new courses next semester: Life and Geography of Middle East: From Colonialism to Arab Spring (GEOG 294) and Gender, Development and Public Policy (GEOG 394-04).

Ashley Nepp will be teaching a new upper level GIS course as well. Cultural Atlas Production (GEOG 394-02) is a group project based class to co-create an atlas from start to finish.

For any questions regarding these course offerings, please contact the instructor.

WELLNESS 5K

An exciting update from Professor Bill Moseley: The Geography of Africa first year seminar had a pizza party and enjoyed the Afro-futurist film "Black Panther." Thanks to the Mac Health & Wellness Center who provided the food after our participation victory at the family fest 5K walk/run (photo below).

SUMMER RESEARCH OPPORTUNITY

The Womadix Foundation Research Fund was established in 2015 and supports student collaborative research with Professor Moseley that is focused on the New Green Revolution for Africa, women and nutrition. While this broad research theme is fixed, there is some flexibility on the precise topic the student may chose related to this theme. Applicants considered must meet the following criteria:

1. Fluency in French (required)
2. Interest in agriculture and Africa (required)
3. Flexible attitude, ability to work independently, and willingness to deal with some physical hardship (required)
4. Junior who would use this research to prepare a senior honors thesis (preferred)
5. Geography major (preferred), but ES majors, African studies, Food, Agriculture & Society or International Development concentrators also considered
6. Previous experience in Africa or other Global South setting (preferred)
7. Previously taken GEOG 232, 243 and/or 263 (preferred)

This grant covers the student's travel expenses and provides them with a modest stipend (official Macalester summer rate) to cover living expenses. The evolving security situation in West Africa also requires that traveling individuals be cleared by the college's international office before departure. At this time, the research location is SW Burkina Faso.

If you think you might be interested in this opportunity, please email Professor Bill Moseley at moseley@macalester.edu by Dec 1, 2018 with an articulation of your interests and relevant experience, as well as a copy of your CV.
