

Honor the Earth Internship - Summer 2017

POSITION INFORMATION

Employer	Honor the Earth
Division	N/A
Title	Honor the Earth Internship - Summer 2017
Description	Here's what we're up to: We continue to support the legal defense of water protectors arrested at Standing Rock, and are also turning our focus back to the Great Lakes, where we face Enbridge's proposed Line 3 pipeline, which would transport 900,000 barrels a day of tar sands oil through the heart of Anishinaabe territory, endangering our water, our sacred manoomin, and our physical and cultural survival. The State of Minnesota is preparing its Environmental Impact Statement for Line 3, and the Ojibwe tribes are preparing their own cumulative impact assessment to analyze this project, and the many other projects impacting their treaty lands. Communities across the North are fighting back, and resistance camps are already popping up. At the same time, we continue to work on renewable energy, food sovereignty, and cultural programs (public art, lacrosse, regalia, maple sugar harvest, wild rice harvest) in tribal communities across the North, to create the future we want. We also continue to distribute small grants to Native grassroots groups across Turtle Island, working to protect their sacred sites and traditional lifeways.

Here's what we need:

Online and in-person research to support the cumulative impact assessment for Ojibwe treaty lands and legal interventions in the Line 3 regulatory process

Online research to support the broader campaign against Line 3 (public education, media, advocacy)

Ongoing administrative support (data entry, bookkeeping, etc)

Writing, layout, and desktop publishing of research and educational materials

Help furnishing and setting up a new office space in Minneapolis

Organizers to develop a grassroots fundraising campaign (event templates, local business outreach, etc)

Rural canvassers to drive around the North and talk to non-Native landowners and community groups

Event planning

Photographers and videographers to document events

Development and maintenance of several different

HOW TO APPLY

If you are interested and able, please contact info@honorearth.org and include a little bit about yourself, including your availability, skillsets, and interests.

Applications accepted via:
Other

IMPORTANT DATES

Posted On:
Mar 28, 2017

Applications Accepted Until:
Apr 28, 2017

CONTACT INFORMATION

Employer	Honor the Earth
Name	Honor Team
E-mail	info@honorearth.org

websites

We are looking for people able to commit to a consistent, sustained contribution of time - at least a few hours each week, for at least 2-3 months and preferably longer. Orientation and volunteer coordination takes lots of time itself, so we need people to take on a piece of work and hold it down.

Location

LOCATION

Nationwide
no

City
Statewide

State/Province
Minnesota

Country
United States

Position Type

Internship

Salary Level

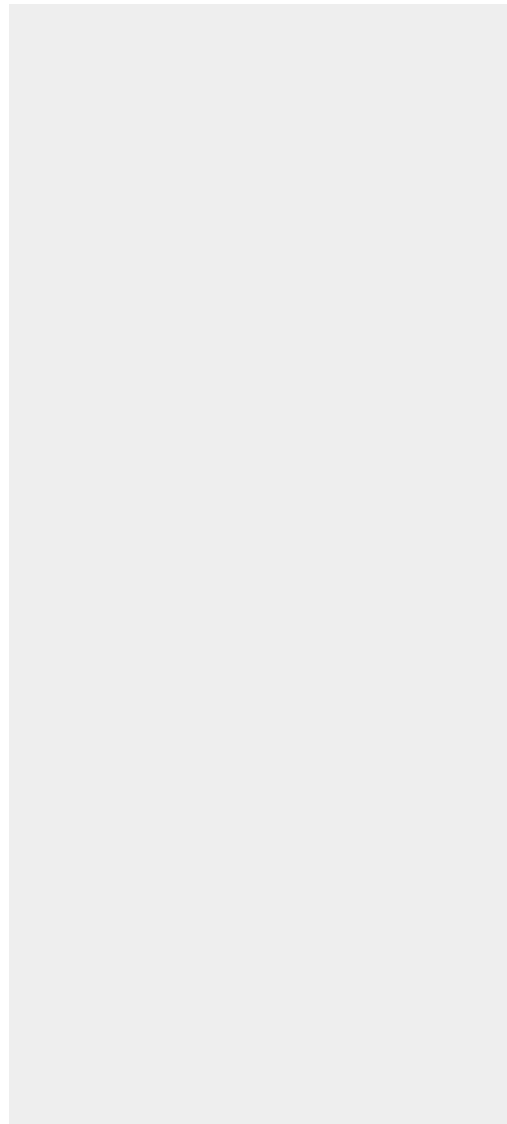

Unknown

Job Function

Environmental, Sustainability, Earth Science, Public Policy, Government, Law, Non-Profit, International Development, Social Services, Writing, Publishing, Journalism, Broadcast

Duration

at least 2-3 months

Help Desk: 703-373-7040 (Hours: Mon-Fri. 9am-8pm EST)

Privacy Policy | Terms of Use | NACElink Privacy Policy | NACElink User Agreement