

...is a conversation with Dialogue
a center, not sides.

[adapted from William Isaac's Dialogue and the Art of Thinking Together (1999)]

Dialogue is about...

- ◆ Assuming that others have a piece of the answer
- ◆ Looking for new possibilities and opportunities to conflicts
- ◆ Listening to understand and find a basis for agreement
- ◆ Being open to be changed by what you hear
- ◆ Bringing up your assumptions for inspection and discussion
- ◆ Learning from mistakes and personal biases
- ◆ Non-violent communication and social change

For more information visit:: www.macalester.edu/morethanwords