

MACALESTER

Assistant Professor of Geology

The Macalester College Geology Department invites applications for a tenure track position in the broadly defined areas of petrology, geochemistry, volcanology, planetary geology, and/or economic geology, to begin in Fall 2022. Candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Earth Sciences or a related field. The successful candidate will be expected to teach a course in mineralogy or “earth materials,” and will be encouraged to develop additional introductory and advanced courses related to their specific interests and expertise that diversify and expand current curricular offerings. Existing strengths in the Macalester geology curriculum include structural geology and tectonics, surface processes and paleoclimate, paleobiology, and sedimentary geology. The successful candidate will be expected to maintain their scholarly work and conduct research with undergraduates. Demonstrated success in teaching and advising at the undergraduate level is desirable. The department is committed to increasing and supporting equity and diversity in the geosciences. The successful candidate will also welcome the opportunity to teach and mentor students from diverse backgrounds. More information about the Macalester Geology Department can be found at www.macalester.edu/geology/.

Macalester College is committed to student and faculty diversity, equity, and inclusion. Strong candidates will have a record of experience or demonstrated commitment to teaching diverse students. In addition to the materials noted above, applicants should also submit a diversity statement (no longer than 2 pages) that discusses past experiences and/or potential future contributions to inclusive excellence in the areas of research, teaching, service, and/or outreach. In the diversity statement, applicants should reflect upon their experience and vision regarding the teaching and mentorship of students from diverse backgrounds. Questions should be directed to Dr. Raymond Rogers, Chair, Geology Department, Macalester College, 1600 Grand Avenue, St. Paul, MN 55105 (rogers@macalester.edu). Applications may be submitted at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/18851> and will be considered beginning September 1, 2021.
