Visiting Assistant Professor in Anthropology (Medical)

The Department of Anthropology at Macalester College invites applications for a one year visiting position in medical anthropology at the Assistant Professor level to begin Fall 2022. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in hand (advanced ABDs will be considered), and teaching experience. Any additional training in global health, clinical practice, or biology is helpful but not required. Area specialization is open. Candidates should be prepared to teach five courses, including two sections of introductory Medical Anthropology and three courses in topical areas that diversify the department's curriculum. We strongly encourage applications from women and minority candidates.

Complete applications will include a letter of application outlining research and teaching interests and a vita, including contact details for three references. Applications received by March 31, 2022, will receive first consideration. Submit materials via Academic Jobs Online https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/21261.

Macalester College is a highly selective, private liberal arts college in the vibrant Minneapolis-Saint Paul metropolitan area, which has a population of approximately three million and is home to numerous colleges and universities, including the University of Minnesota. Macalester's diverse student body comprises over 2000 undergraduates from 49 states and the District of Columbia and over 90 nations. The College maintains a longstanding commitment to academic excellence with a special emphasis on internationalism, multiculturalism, and service to society. As an Equal Opportunity employer supportive of affirmative efforts to achieve diversity among its faculty, Macalester College strongly encourages applications from women and members of underrepresented minority groups.