Visiting Assistant Professor in Indigenous History

The History Department at Macalester College invites applications for a full-time, temporary appointment (5 courses in total: 2 in the fall, 3 in the spring) in Indigenous history to begin Fall 2022. The appointment may be made at the rank of Visiting Assistant Professor. Ph.D. required by the time of appointment. Preference for candidates who can teach themes in Indigenous history across a broad chronology. Possible areas of specialization could include languages and cultures, migration and society, military conflicts in comparative contexts, heritage tourism and material cultures, as well as traditions of social and cultural activism.

For full consideration, please submit a letter of application (including a brief teaching statement), curriculum vitae, a list of three references, and a syllabus or outline for a proposed course. Candidates should upload their materials electronically to https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/21605.

Diversifying our curriculum geographically, temporally, and thematically is a high priority, so evidence of comparative and cross-cultural scholarship is especially welcome. Evidence of methodological innovation and creative teaching strategies is also highly desirable. Review of applications will begin on May 15, 2022, and will continue until the position is filled. Applications received by this date will be assured of full consideration.

For any questions about the position contact Professor Walter Greason, Chair, History Department, at wgreason@macalester.edu.

Macalester College is a highly selective, private liberal arts college in the vibrant Minneapolis–Saint Paul metropolitan area, which has a population of approximately three million and is home to numerous colleges and universities, including the University of Minnesota.
