Part-time Visiting Assistant Professor or Instructor in Geospatial Science

Saint Paul, Minnesota -- Applications are invited for a part-time non-tenure-track visiting assistant professor or visiting instructor position in geospatial sciences to begin in fall 2024. ABD or Ph.D. in Geography or a cognate discipline is preferred and we welcome applications from individuals with a Master's degree in a field relevant to Geography. The department is searching for a part-time instructor to teach one or two geography courses during the 2024-25 academic year. The successful candidate will teach one or two courses in the candidate's areas of expertise that complement the existing strengths of the department. Candidates must be able to teach a course in advanced geospatial techniques (including, for example, remote sensing or applied GIS). We welcome applicants who could also teach a physical geography course. A strong commitment to liberal arts education, experiential learning, and undergraduate research activities is essential. We prefer candidates who can offer courses in the fall 2024 semester. Visa sponsorship is not available for this position. Salary and benefits are competitive.

To apply, go to <https://forms.gle/X4vKRqwkEqMHfKHL9> and electronically submit a letter of application, a C.V., up to three sample syllabi, and a list of three references including contact information. Applicants should identify and describe the specific courses they plan to offer in the position. Applications should be received by March 25 to receive fullest consideration but will be accepted until the position is filled. If you have further questions, please contact Dan Trudeau, Professor & Chair of Geography at trudeau@macalester.edu.

Macalester College is a highly selective, private liberal arts college in the vibrant and diverse Minneapolis-Saint Paul metropolitan area, which has a population of more than three million and is home to numerous colleges and universities, including the University of Minnesota. Macalester's diverse student body comprises over 2000 undergraduates (14% international and 32% US students of color), who hail from 45 states and over 70 nations. The College maintains a longstanding commitment to academic excellence, with a special emphasis on internationalism, multiculturalism, and service to society. We are especially interested in applicants dedicated to excellence in teaching and research/creative activity within a liberal arts college community. As an Equal Opportunity employer supportive of affirmative efforts to achieve diversity among its faculty, Macalester College strongly encourages applicants from women, non-binary people, and members of historically underrepresented groups. We acknowledge that Macalester College is located on the ancestral homeland of the Dakota people, who were forcibly exiled because of aggressive and persistent settler colonialism.
