Chair Talk from Joan

Wow, it's April already! As always, we have an engaging and busy month ahead in the psychology department. A highlight of April each year is the annual Spring Dinner, which comes very early this year: Monday, April 4th (5:30-6:30 p.m. in the Smail Gallery). All are welcome, even if you've only taken one psychology course (heck, even if you've never taken a psychology course but are interested in connecting with the department). I can pretty much promise that the food will be delicious and the company will be fun, and that we'll offer prizes for trivia quiz and a surprise "matching challenge" contest. Also coming up in April: a Career Night with psychology department alum! On Tuesday evening, April 12th, a group of recent and not-so-recent alum who work in the Twin Cities will return to campus and talk about how they got their jobs, what they do for work and how it connects to their psychology majors, and answer your questions.

Dinner will be served, please plan to attend if you can (be on the lookout for flyers with more information). April is also registration time, so those of you who aren't graduating this spring can look forward to picking your classes for next semester. We will have several visitors in the department next year, including one full-time person. I don't have a signed contract for her yet so I will tell you about her, and the other visitors who will be teaching for us in the fall, very soon. In the meantime, rest assured that we have some really exciting new advanced classes in line for the fall. Finally, I would like to extend my congratulations to the recipients of our various departmental awards. We have so many amazing students (yes, that includes you, the person who is reading this issue of PsychoBabble right now!) and it is always a challenge to pick among you for these departmental honors. Please see below for this year's awardees, and join me in congratulating them. They will be recognized at the Spring Dinner.

Associate Dean of the Faculty and Psychology Professor Kendrick Brown to Leave Macalester

The Psychology Department was both thrilled and devastated to learn of Kendrick Brown's anticipated move to become Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Redlands in California. Although all of you current students know him primarily as an administrator, many of you were also lucky enough to have taken his Understanding and Confronting Racism course. We will miss him terribly, and wish him all the best. Below is some information from the official announcement of his departure.

Brown came to Macalester in 1998 as tenure-track member of the Psychology Department. He focused on how individuals negotiate systematic biases, in particular racism, to establish or maintain connections within and between social status groups.

Since 2009, he has been Associate Dean of the Faculty, and as such, supervised the Assessment Office and various assessment activities at Macalester, oversaw the creation of faculty personnel review files, and solicited applications from students and faculty wishing to work closely during the summer on a scholarly project supported by endowed and external funds.

"I am going to miss Macalester, my colleagues and friends, and all the students I've come to know over the past 18 years," said Brown. "It was not an easy decision for me to leave Macalester, but I simply could not pass up the opportunity at The University of Redlands."

Psych Leader Nominations

We are eager for nominations for next year's psych club leaders. Leaders play an incredibly important role in the department. They build community in the department by helping out with a variety of events, including lunches, panels, volunteer experiences, guest lecturers, game nights, and Friday Socials. Ideally, leaders generate ideas for new activities that other students would find engaging and informative, and they inspire other students to get involved in the life of the department. We expect that serving as a Psych Club leader will typically take about 1 - 2 hours a week, although your time commitment will vary from week to week.

Please consider nominating yourself or someone else to this important role. Please send names to Jaine Strauss by Monday, April 25th. We will contact all students who are nominated to make sure they're interested in the commitment. The decision about next year's psych leaders is made by faculty and staff. 2016-17 leaders will be announced in the May Psycho-Babble.

Joan Ostrove recipient of major award!

Joan is the recipient of the 2016 Walter D. Mink Outstanding Undergraduate Teaching Award given by the Minnesota Psychological Association. Prior to joining the Macalester faculty in 1999, Joan completed a B.A. degree at Williams College and Master's and Ph.D. degrees in psychology at the University of Michigan. Her nomination letter stated that "course evaluations include lavish praise for her warmth, accessibility, intelligence, expertise, and passion." One of her students stated, "I always feel like I'm learning new ways to think about the world every time I go to class," and a second student said, "she balanced both holding high expectations for and being supportive of her students."

Rowan Hilty is the Paterson nominee!

Paterson Award Nominee - Macalester's nominee for the award given by the Minnesota Psychological Association to the most promising senior in Minnesota planning a career in psychology. The student also receives a cash prize provided by the Walter D. Mink endowed prize fund.

Nominee: Rowan Hilty

Rowan is a Psychology major currently completing an honors thesis under the direction of Professor Cari Gillen-O'Neel. She will be presenting her honors research at a psychology conference this summer. She is the lab manager for Professor Steve Guglielmo's Morality and Social Cognition Lab and worked as a research assistant at the VA Hospital Center for Chronic Disease Outcomes Research in Minneapolis. She has been a project coordinator for the Civic Engagement Center, a group leader for the Lives of Commitment program, a writing tutor for the MAX Center, a preceptor for RIPI, a shift manager at Dairy Queen, and a Racial Equity Team intern.

Kevin Dowling and Rachel Fogel to receive the Mink Award.

Walter D. Mink Endowed Prize - Established in memory of Walter D. Mink, Professor of Psychology from 1958-1996. This prize is given to a senior who has a strong academic record and has also provided outstanding service to the department, the college or the broader community.

Recipients: Kevin Dowling and Rachel Fogel

Kevin is a Psychology major and Biology minor who is also completing a concentration in Community and Global Health. He has been a research assistant at the NYU Department of Psychiatry, the NYU Center for Neural Studies, and Rutgers University. He was a public policy intern with the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill, works in the Center for Religious and Spiritual Life on campus, and has been an active leader in the Psychology Club, the Macalester Catholic Organization, and the Lives of Commitment program.

Rachel is a Psychology major who is minoring in Religious Studies and has a concentration in Community and Global Health. She is planning a career in medicine and has worked or volunteered at the Family Tree Clinic, Indiana University Hospital, the NABO Center in Copenhagen, Denmark, and Broughton Hospital in North Carolina. She has been an active leader in the Psychology Club, the Senior Keystone Program, the Multifaith Council, and Lives of Commitment.

Glenna Gransee and Jessica Pham are the Rossmann Award recipients

Jack Rossmann Endowed Prize - This prize honors a graduating senior psychology major who has an excellent academic record and has also made distinguished contributions in the application of academic psychology through activities such as applied research, internships, or community service.

Recipients: Glenna Gransee and Dung (Jessica) Pham

Glenna majored in Psychology and minored in Russian Studies, and is planning graduate school and an eventual career in school psychology. She was a lab assistant for Professor Julia Manor and volunteered for much of her time at Macalester as a homework center tutor at the Rondo Community Outreach library.

Jessica is a Psychology major with a concentration in Community and Global Health. She has been a research assistant for a variety of projects, most recently in the department of psychiatry at the University of Minnesota Medical School where she worked on a project that will be presented at an international conference and published in a prominent journal. She has volunteered in the autism day treatment program at Fraser here in Minnesota and with the Autism Advocacy Project in Vietnam, with the Mental Health Association of Minnesota, the Amherst Wilder Foundation, and the Minnesota AIDS Project.

Linda DeAnda is the 2016 Parchem Fellow

The Parchem Fellowship, established in 2010 by Drs. Allen and Georga Parchem, provides an opportunity for psychology majors to work closely and collaboratively with faculty members on faculty members' research, typically during the summer. The Parchems hope this research opportunity will further students' interest in and commitment to conducting research.

Linda DeAnda '18 has received the Parchem Fellowship to work over the summer with Professor Cari Gillen-O'Neel.

Sung Eun Hong 2016 Harp-Pollack Intern

Harp-Pollack Summer Internship in NYC - The fellowship supports one student who would not otherwise have the opportunity to participate in an unpaid public interest summer internship in New York City.

SungEun Hong '17 will do a summer internship with iMCI & the Future Work Institute

Postcard from Study Away

Greetings from Cape Town! I am studying abroad at the University of Cape Town with IES Abroad. IES Abroad is really great and provides a lot of support in all aspects, including navigating the bureaucracy of UCT. I am taking four classes at UCT: Poverty, Development, and Globalisation; Gender, Sexuality, and Politics: Debates in Contemporary African Contexts; 20th Century Industrialisation; and Critical Psychology. Critical Psychology is a very interesting area/framework of psychology that not only critiques society, but also critiques psychology itself and the role it has had in creating and justifying different oppressions. The classes here are challenging, and about the same amount of work as at Macalester. So I have been doing a lot of homework since school has started! But before that, I went to the beach and explored different parts of town. Now, I try to squeeze in some fun on the weekends and have gone to the Waterfront and to visit the African penguin colony on Boulders Beach. It is a very interesting time to be in South Africa and witness the social change and frustrations 21 years after apartheid ended. There is still a lot of economic and racial inequality, and is a challenging and fascinating environment to learn from!

Greetings from Australia!

Oh boy, where do I even start?!? Well first, I am doing a Direct Enroll program at James Cook University in Townsville, Queensland, Australia studying Marine Biology! You may be thinking, 'What? Marine Biology? Is Wendy studying the psychology of fish?'. Fret not! I like to say that I am taking a mini "sabbatical" from psychology to immerse myself in and study something that I have been extremely passionate about since I was young, marine biology.

I've been here for a bit over a month now and it has just been amazing. I am taking classes, such as Evolution and Biogeography of Marine Organisms as well as Functional Biology of Marine Organisms, that are taught by the world's leading marine biologists - crazy cool! My schedule worked out perfectly so that I only have classes Tuesday to Thursday, which means lots of time for traveling and adventures!!! I have always been a city girl but retreating back to nature has always been a part of my life. So far, I have been to a tropical beach, crystal creek, animal sanctuary, crocodile river, just to name a few - and its only been a month! Soon, I'll be getting my diving certification to dive at the Great Barrier Reef, but most importantly, or what I am most excited for, is diving with sharks. Future plans include going to the Whitsundays (one of the world's best beaches), tropical rainforests, and a few other cities. Obligatory picture of the cutest Australian native, the wombat!

Wishing everyone a safe and happy last half of Spring 2016, WHOOO, especially my seniors who won't get to hear me scream for them at graduation (I will be with you in spirit and streaming from Australia!). Cannot wait to share the rest of my adventures with everyone when I am back at Mac (with an Australian accent maybe)!

Love, Wendy (Wendy Chu)

Psych Dept. Annual Spring Dinner - Monday, April 4 5:30 - 6:30 Smail Gallery

Majors, minors and anyone interested in psychology: you are all invited to the 10th annual Spring Dinner in Olin Rice Smail Gallery. We will have great Italian food, a trivia quiz with prizes, class pictures, other exciting announcements, and fun gathering together. Please RSVP by Friday, April 1st! Lee lolson4@macalester.edu

Senior Conversations - Wednesday, May 4th

Before our graduating seniors leave campus, the department faculty want to have an informal conversation with you about your experience in the department. The feedback from these conversations plays an important role in planning we do for the department.

Senior Conversations will be on Wednesday, May 4th. We ask all seniors to sign up for either a 25 minute individual conversation or for a focus group with other majors which will last about 50 minutes. All participating seniors will receive a couple of small gifts from the department and lunch and snacks will be provided throughout the day. Please see Lee to sign up. You will get assigned a faculty member who isn't grading you this semester. Individual conversations can be scheduled every half hour from 8:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m or sign up for a focus group at 10:00, 11:00 or 1:00.

Rat Challenge

Please come see the showcase of the PSYC 240 Learning & Behavior student's semester training of rats. Come watch them perform tricks and daring feats. Smail Gallery, Sunday, May 1st, 1:00 - 4:00.

DR students - Get it on your calendar! MUPC 2016 - gomupc.com

MUPC (Minnesota Undergraduate Psychology Conference) will be Saturday, April 23, at Augsburg College in St. Paul. Gary L. Wells from Iowa State University will be our keynote speaker. His work focuses on memory and eyewitness testimony. DR students: register for the conference and submit your proposal. If you still have questions about submission, be sure to check with your DR advisor. Anyone else who wants to go to MUPC at Augsburg this year is welcome. Talk to Joan Ostrove about how to attend if you're not presenting.

Majors who are Seniors: Major Plan

Planning to graduate in May? If so, now is the time to check your major plan to make sure you've taken care of all of your requirements. Please meet with your advisor and/or Joan Ostrove to get this important process taken care of.

Mesmerizing Major - Jessica Stone

Favorite Movie: Man Up, Audrey Hepburn's Sabrina, or The Departed

Favorite Book: To Kill a Mockingbird

Favorite place to eat in the Twin Cities: Fasika, Punch, Ngon Vietnamese Bistro, Broders' Pasta Bar

What do you do when you are not studying? I'm usually at golf practice, daydreaming, or watching videos of puppies. I'm also always enjoying a nice cup of English Breakfast tea.

Where did you grow up? Granada Hills, California

Interesting fact about your hometown: The first annual Granada Hills Holiday Parade was in 1984 and the route is 1.8 miles long.

Tell us something about your family: My family is my support system and I'm very grateful for them. We're a bunch of weirdos who laugh at our own jokes.

Tell us something that you are pleased with or proud of about yourself: I'm proud that I stepped out of my comfort zone to attend Macalester and that I've been able to accept and love my weird quirks as part of who I am.
